Prior to joining iDS, David spent over four years working at the Department of Justice - first in Research and Publication at the Office of the Solicitor General, and then as part of Fraud Investigations for the Civil Division, Section of Fraud.

Today, David handles the client portfolio of Dan Regard, maintaining communication between client and consultants at all stages of a matter, creating and documenting processes, and handling whatever other needs arise at iDS.

David was born in West Germany, spending his childhood in North Carolina, Arizona, Ohio, and New York before ultimately moving to Maryland where he has lived since 2004.

David knows absolutely everything there is to know about Godzilla.
